

There should be a requirement for potty break places for service animals, even if it is just the normal pet area outside of the security area but with a security or airport personnel to accompany the service animal team so they do not have to go all the way back through the security checking again. There are bathrooms for people in the secure area of the airport and so there should be a way for service animals to get relief without having to cause so much disruption as to have to go back through the security checking process again.

All the other rules are great.
